PHIL LEE BY A SHORT HEAD. MCLAUGHLIN CAUGHT NAPPING BY MC-CARTHY.

FIRENZA WINS THE LADIES' STAKES-A VICTORY FOR MRS. LORILLARD.

Phil Lee won the Westchester Handicap yesterday was obvious bunching on the one hand and shrewd reemanship on the other. Thirty yards from the post Phil Lee was as good as beaten. McLaughlin, who had been riding furiously, realized the fact, and with an n riding furiously, realized the fact, and with an urd display of overconfidence cased his mount, inding no doubt to canter in gracefully. McCarthy saw opportunity and made a final desperate effort. Phil was an exceedingly tired horse, but he responded cely to the snaking up, and while McLaughlin slept Eurus mound, he crept up and won the race by the d Eurus moped, he cropt up and won the race by the cortest of heads. The result caused the backers of irus many a heart-burning. From the way in which cLaughlin rode the sluggish rogue on Wednesday they d every reason in the world to believe that the celt sould beat anything put against him yesterday. He ght to have done so. He would have done so had he seen driven in the same vigorous fashion. Hereafter let McLaughlin remember that "Andy" McCarthy never gives up, and he never goes to sleep in the saddle.

If Mr. Haggin has a more disappointing filly than Faux Pas let him bring her out so that credulous simpletons may get rid of all their silver certificates in short der. Here is a filly about whose private trisls won-rful stories have been circulated, but in her races she has distinguished herself by shutting up like a cheap pocket-knife. When she failed to run three-quarters of a mile at the Brooklyn course, her friends found consolation in the thought that she would go a half. Yesterday they supported her for the half and she didn't go a rter with any degree of composure. As there are no races at a sixteenth of a mile, how are her backers to get

Richmond with 115 pounds up won the second race as he liked. Shauer rode him with patience and skill. Alf Estill is a most abominable rogue and coward, and will yet succeed in breaking the heart of Veteran Babecck. Do, please, Captain Coster, in your next handcap, give Alf a living chance. Chuck him in somewhere in the eighties at seven furlongs. In Longlight Mr. Nolan has u colt that will bear careful watching. One of these days he will win a race.

On her last year's form Firenzi should have the Ladies' Stakes in a canter. Littlefield waited too long, and when he called on the flity he did it in a lackadaisical manner that made her backers extremely nervous. To an unsophisticated outsider it appeared as if Almy was not sent out to win. Firenzi was. Almy was heavily backed for a place by her owners, who evidently had no idea of trying to win with her. Flageoletta under McLaughlin's spirited riding, upset all calculations. Mr. cott's stable never was in better form than Thompson

The favorite had no trouble winning the selling race. Belmont was dangerous until half-way down the home stretch, when Palmer took up his whip and stopped him. It is amazing how much better certain beasts can pack stable money than public money. On Monday Jim Me-Gowan could searcely hobble along. Yesterday he ran like a race-horse. There is no telling what might have happened had Judge Griffith ever got up with him.

A large crowd attended the races yesterday and ened them. Messrs. Lorillard, Fritsch, Sanford, Douglas, Bronson and Boudoine drove their four-in-hands on the terrace before the club-house, and their guests decorated the lawn as they did on Decoration Day There ust have been some 10,000 persons at the cours

On Thursday President Dwyer, of the Brooklyn Jockey Club, discussed the question of dates with Judge Monson and D. D. Withers, but the three could agree upon no compromise. On Friday the American Jockey Club held a meeting at its headquarters in Madison-ave., and debated the subject fully. The members were not inclined odds complained that they could not make books at both tracks on the same day, and as they were under contract to the two clubs a clashing of dates would be unfair to them. So the matter was settled thus: The programme advertised for Saturday is withdrawn and the American Jockey Club substitutes two extra days -Wednesday and Friday. The races on the programme for Tuesday and Thursday will be run as announced. This gives four unsecutive days at Jerome-Tuesday, Wednesday, unselay and Friday. The Brooklyn Jockey Club sumes its spring meeting on Saturday.

Below are the details of the races:

CLEVELAND. One of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a game of One of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a game of baseball at St. George, Staten Island, went down to the beautiful grounds yesterday to witness the bastle with the bats between the St. Louis and Metropolitan clabs. Fully 10,000 people were present and the boats to the Island were crowded for hours before and after the match. St. George never presented a more inviting aspect, the handsome stands, clubhouses and emerald lined field, and the big crowd presented a picture well worth scang. The playing was share and presented a more inviting aspect, the hamicular states hooses and emerald lined field, and the big crowd presented a picture well worth seeing. The playing was sharp and brilliant throughout and the spectators were kept at the highest pitch of excitement from the start until the last man was put out in the final inning. The champions played a remarkable game in the field, not making a bimoler, while the few errors made by the Indians did not have fatal results. It was throughout a pitchers' game and lovers of scientific playing were wildly enthusiastic. Mays pitched with telling effect and so did the more clongated King. Latham as usual acted the part of the clown, and his antics were loudly applauded. Only one run was made during the match, that by the Western champions in the opening liming. Caruthers made a three-basshit to left field and accred on a safe hit to right field by Comiskey. A baschit in the second, eighth or ninth innings would have given the home players a run, but when Gerbardt, Holbert and Hankinson's time at the bat arrived they could not respond. FINE FIELDING AND GOOD BATTING BY BOTH NINES IN WASHINGTON.

Washington, June 4.—The prett est game of baseball played here this season took place between the Washington and New-York clubs to-day, the former winning through good batting. The game was replete with brilliant fielding, no less batting. The game was replete with brilliant fielding, no less than aix double plays being executed, of which the home team made four. If one double play was better than another it occurre in the eighth inning, when Ewing was on third and Ward or second, both having reached those bases on hits. Comor was at the but with only one into not. Gilmore settled down to work and struck out below the first haseman, Mack threw the ball to Myers in Myers returned the ball to Myers and Mack three the ball to make it is a made of the first haseman, which was the less than the ball to Myers the first was Gilmore's second game and he complete haffled the big hitters of New-York. Matthiore was also factive, holding the home team down to two earned runs. At the bar bonnelly, Richardson and Myers carried off the hone is. The acore was:

DUTY MUST BE PAID ON WORKS OF ART. Washington, June 4.—The Secretary of State recently received a dispatch from the United States Consul at Florence, Italy, in regard to the free entry of certain works of art purchased by Americans while traveiling or residing abroad. The matter was referred to the Treasury Department and Mr. Maynard has replied to Mr.

Bayard as follows:

"The Consul cites the case of an invoice of articles purchased by a resident of New-York who claimed that they were exempt from duty irrespective of the fact that they had not been used abroad for the period of one year. The copy of the invoice shows that the articles are clearly household effects and not personal effects, and are only cutilled to free entry if used abroad by their owner not less than one year, and are not intended for any other person or persons or for sile. The limitation as to use abroad does not apply to personal effects. Paintings, statuary, brounces, mosaies, terra-cotta, majolica, old furniture, brica-brac, portraits and portrait busts, appear to be household effects and are likewise sunject to the restrictions as to one year's use abroad in order to entitle them to free entry."

SALT LAKE TO BE STOCKED WITH SHAD. WASHINGTON, June 4 (Special).—An experiment in fish culture is about to be made in stocking Salt Lake, Utah, with shad from the breeding station near Point Lookout on the Chesapeake. In the course of the present week one of the Fish Commission cars reached Sait Lake with 1,100,000 young shad to be placed in the lake. It is an experiment, but the Fish Commission officials believe NEW-YORK BEATEN IN A BRILLIANT GAME. that the physical conditions of the water there make a complete success probable. The water of that porcomplete success probable. The water of that por-tion of the lake is much more dense with sait than ordi-nary sea water, but the inflowing tributaries to the lake are mountain streams of fresh water, and each of these reduces the density for a considerable distance from their mouths so that the shad may select at their own free will the quality of sait water they prefer. Besides they will be enabled to select clear fresh water for the spawn-ter search.

THEIR CHANCES WITH HARVARD'S CREW. HARD WORK EXPECTED AT NEW-LONDON -THE

STANDING OF THE OARSMEN, The Columbia College crews started on the City of Worcester last night for New-London, taking their paggage and rigs with them, and a large number of their friends gathered to see them off and to wish them a prosperous sojourn in the waters of the Thames. Few people perous solourn in the waters of the Thames. Few people have any idea how much labor, time and money are spent each year by coilege crews in their preparations for the annual intercollegiate boat races. Ever since the first of last December the Columbia Freshman crew has been hard at work, and since January 1 the Columbia Yursity crew has been in training. Both of the crews used Wood's Gymnasium for three hours each afternoon until March 22, when they went upon the water for the first time, and ever since then the college boathouse at Ninth-ave, and One-hundred-and-fifty-eighth-81, on the Harlem River, has been their objective point. About the 1st of May the two crews with their substitutes were finally chosen, and since that time the only change has been in the Varsity crew, where F. W. Denton, who rowed No. 4, has been excused on account of the sickness of his mother, and R. C. Applegate, 'S9, S. of M., has been placed in his position.

On Friday afternoon a Trinux reporter stood on the float in front of Columbia's boathouse. At hall-past the 'Varsity#crew began to make its appearance, and the reporter was soon busily talking with one of the members. "Yes, I know," said the "fresh sait" as he handled the blade of his oar, "It does seem rather late in the day to begin work, but we always feel more like rowing in the evening, and so we can do our best work then. Bestdex, there is less fravel on the river at that time, and last, but by no means least, there are more of the 'Harlem River ladies' around to attract, or rather distract, our attention, and we can keep our eyes in the boat and watch the stroke." have any idea how much labor, time and money are spent body-wing, while their out-board work is far from being perfect."

Just then the boys brought out their shell, and the ceach, with the reporter and a number of Columbia's boatmen of former years, boarded the Van Cott as the crew placed the shell in the water.

"Ready air! Pull!" shouted the coxswain, and the shell danced lightly through the waves as the little Van Cott steamed swiftly along by its side. And then began the regular lesson as Mr. Peet took his position in the how of the boat and watched the shell.

"Look out, Two; don't row with one shoulder ahead of the other; watch your oar, Bow; take a firm stroke with your oar, liow;" he shouted us he called to the men, designating them by their position. "Reach out a little bit, Three; and watch the list part of your recover, Six; you'rea little ahead of time, Five; now reach out a bit, Three; cut in, Stroke; settle off your oar, Five, and watch that nod's swing, Four; that's better, stroke, keep that up. Now all of you watch that time." And so it went for twe miles, when the men stopped long enough to turn around and head up the river.

river twice a day, and we will use the steam launch Nellie, of Riverhead, L. I., until the races, which will occur the 'Varsity on June 25 and the freshman on July I."

"The freshman crew is a remarkably light crew, averaging only 1454 pounds, while the 'Varsity crew is considered light, with an average of 163 3-15 pounds. The same general faults apply to the freshmen as to their brothers, but this is due to the small amount of conching that it has been possible to give them. They have a shell suited to their weight, and will make a close race with the Harvard freshmen."

One of the Columbia men, speaking of the expense of the college crews, told the reporter that last fear the whole expense of both crews amounted to almost $8,000, and that the expense this year will probably be a little less. Columbia men are proud of their boat-house on the Harlem. It is a two-story building standing out in the water, the lower story of which is filled with shells and barges of every description, from the nine eight-oared shells that are stored there to the little canoes in which one has to kneed down and hold his breath for fear he may up over. The upper story is in two rooms. The rear room contains some slxty or seventy lockers, and is used as a dressing room, while the forward one is a reception room, large enough for extended dancing, and in front of the building are balconles, so that spectators can watch the racers as they pass the house.

TO BUILD A NEW POLICE STATION. The Police Commissioners have decided to erect a three-story brick building next to the Tree a three-story trick building next to the Tremony Police Station, to be occupied partly as a stable for horses and partly as a dormitory for the patrolinen, until a new station can be erected. Several of the up-town stations have been overcrowded since the recent increase of the police force, but none so much as the station which formerly was the Tremont Town Hall. The builting has stone walls four feet thick, and despite the fact that it was built many years ago ls in good condition, but it is entirely unsuited to its present use.

COMMENTS BY THE PRESS.

"The book is one t commend itself for its thorough and able treatment of popular sports."-iSporting Life. "A mass of inf rm_tion and statistics which is otherwise obtained only by long and wearisome search through athletic manuals, almanaes and the files of sporting journals. Here in admirable form are presented the history, the main principles and the rules of every sport, with the best records and other statistical data. . . . The chapter on yachting is a book in itself and contains a mass of interesting information."—[San Francisco Chronicle. "The greatest care has been exercised in securing accuracy, and the names of those who have assisted in the compilation of the work are sufficient to entitle it to be stamped with the seal of approval. . . . As a book of reference the work is also valuable, furnishing as it does records of noted contests, and it is delightfully illustrated. "Pre-eminently the book of all books of this sort for the clearness of its explanatory matter and the engaging manner in which it talks to the reader, imparting to him an enthusiastic interest. . . . It is to answer the great present popular interest that this remarkably clever and comprehensive work has been produced. . . . The book is both complete and authoritative."- | Watertown Times. "The most comprehensive book of open-air diversions in print. Some such work as this is almost a necessity for any one who wishes to engage in or to keep posted concerning the history, rules and records of the popular pastimes.

This book is a veritable library of accurate and valuable information."—[Norwich Bulletin. "A valuable work . . . always of interest and use."- Boston Journal.

"Bountifully illustrated; and the list of contributors embraces the names of many who are standard authorities in their different departments. . . . The work will receive an enthusiastic welcome."-[Holyoke Paper World. "All the leading recreations are treated of by special writers and experts. . . . Anecdotes relating to the different subjects and the records of amateurs and professionals are included. . . . A very acceptable chapter of useful facts, such as the treatment of accidents, fording of streams, care of the eyes and the life, closes the work."-(Scientific American. "Each sport is thoroughly described by some expert thoroughly interested in its development. . instruction is plain, straightforward and practical. The admirable hints on horsemanship are above all to be commended. . . . A useful book for all the year."—[Boston Commercial Bulletin.

"It contains a full account of . . . gunning, fishing, athletics, lawn tennis, etc., and what is of more interest to us a long chapter devoted exclusively to photography. Its author is undoubtedly an expert photographer, if we may judge from the masterly manner in which he treats the subject in all of its details."—[Photographic Times. "A very complete octave volume on the subject. . . Aims to satisfy the increasing popular demand for knowledge as to athletic sports without the necessity of joining an athletic club or buying a costly treatise. —[Brook-
